European Robotics Week 2016

The sixth year in a row, European Robotics Week turned out to be an amazing success. After the idea was conceived at the European Robotics Forum 2011, ERW was started in the same year because the European Robotics community aspired to bring robotics research and development closer to the European public.

In its first year, ERW2011 reached about 50,000 people in over 360 robotics related activities that took place in 19 European countries. The second edition in 2012 was also a Pan-European success, with circa 30,000 people participating in over 200 robotics related activities among 21 European countries. The first huge increase came with the third ERW2013 when over 60,000 people participated in over 300 robotics related activities.

As strong as the first years were, the ERW2014 broke all previous records counting almost 500 robotics related events in 22 European and associate countries. For the first time ever, Croatia, the newest member of the European Union, and Israel participated in the European Robotics Week. An estimated number of over 70,000 people attended all the events, from children to adults, showing that the science of robotics is gaining traction and our objectives are being attained.

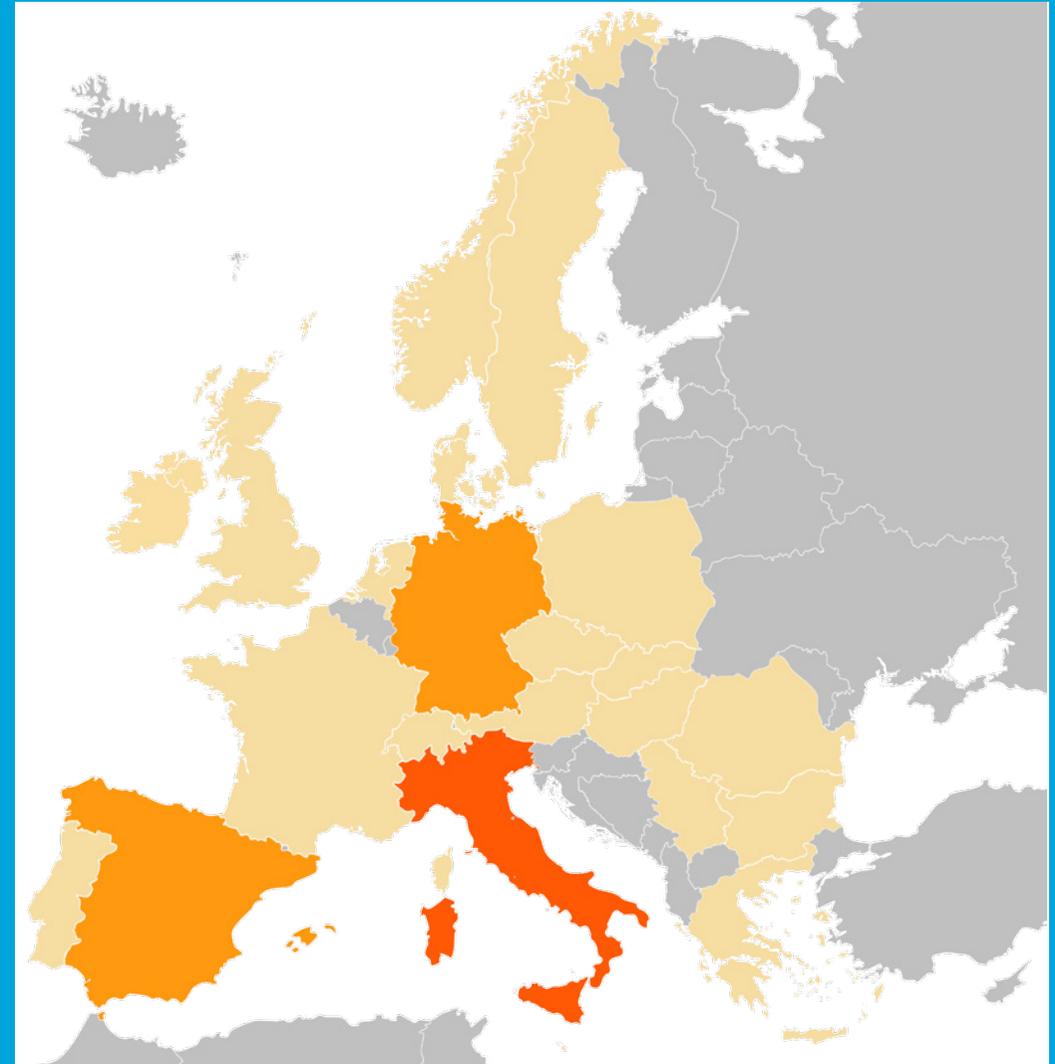

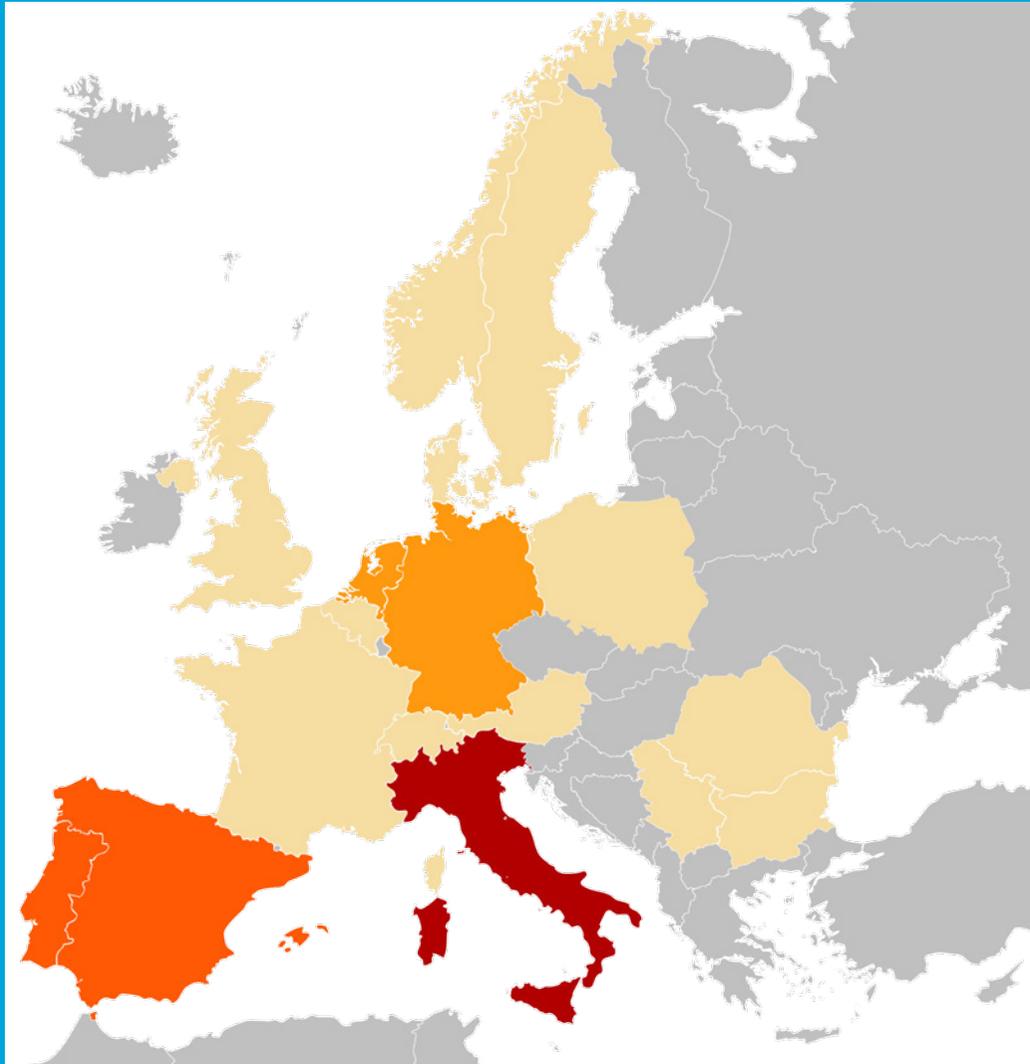

After the success of the previous year, it seemed almost impossible for ERW2015 to become even more successful. However with the start of the week in Bristol at the central event, the ERW2015 got a great momentum and ended up with 750 events in 31 countries with roughly 90,000 attendees.

As the development of the European Robotics Week with its peak of events in 2016 below will show, ERW2016 managed - thanks to the hard work of all National Coordinators - to surmount all previous years and set a new record!

ERW2016

The European Robotics Week (ERW) celebrates Europe as a leader in Robotics technology development by offering the general public one week of hundreds of interactive events. With the organisation of over 830 robotics events in 30 countries, ERW2016 has once again broken all records.

Central Event in Amsterdam

Aimee van Wynsberghe

The central event which symbolizes the official opening of the week and hence receives European-wide attention took place in Amsterdam 18-22 November this year.

The whole event was themed „Robots at your Service” and located at the Marine Bay, where the facilities including the National Maritime Museum were used.

Juha Heikkilä

After the opening ceremony featuring a number of dignitaries like Juha Heikkilä (Head of the European Commission Robotics & Artificial Intelligence Unit in DG Connect), Bernd Liepert (President of euRobotics and Chief Innovation Officer of KUKA) and Aimee van Wynsberghe (Twente University professor specialised in robot ethics), the multi-track event featuring panel deliberations in robotics regulation, assistive living technologies, and aimed at attracting more youth, and especially girls, into science, technology, engineering, arts and maths (STEAM) was started.

Bernd Liepert

The event hosted workshops and featured a 48-hour hackathon for designers, makers, coders, engineers, and anyone else who believed healthy ageing should be a societal challenge.

Central Event in Amsterdam

Room full of hackitarians working on the perfect solution

The whole weekend was accompanied by a pop-up exhibition showing a range of consumer robots as well as the world's first safe and sensitive lightweight robot for human robot collaboration.

The winner of the elderly-centric Hackathon was a group inventing the dog collar Snoop which is able to remind the dog's owner to feed or walk the dog. "The idea stemmed from the fact that dogs are the perfect animal for active elderlies. Snoop combines the familiarity of a household pet with robotic sensors, connectivity and data processing to introduce lifestyle improvement technologies to the elderly and initiate positive changes in their behaviour", explains Jurjen Söhne, co-organiser of the central event and founder of the Hackitarians.

Remotely Piloted Aircraft Systems Civil Operators & Operations Forum
Brussels, Belgium

Hide details

The European Civil RPAS Operators' Forum is an international conference for the RPAS operators community focusing on the implementation of the European RPAS Roadmap, and on issues that are of particular importance to RPAS operators, e.g. national regulatory matters, insurance, privacy & data protection, civil RPAS operational matters, current & future applications [commercial, non-commercial (corporate, governmental non-military)], current bottlenecks, technical and performance requirements, aerial work customer requirements, novel operations, operational experience & lessons learned.

Panel discussions will permit active interaction between the speakers and the audience. The presentations and panel topics will broaden the awareness of current and potential RPAS operators, their current & potential customers, regulatory authorities & manufacturers.

Target audience

The speakers at this conference include representatives of the European Commission, European Commission agencies, NATO, national government authorities, and various companies & organizations from Europe, Asia and the USA.

The plenary conference & the splinter meetings will broaden the awareness of current & future RPAS operators [commercial, non-commercial (incl. corporate), governmental non-military], their potential customers, current & future manufacturers (RPAS & sub-systems), regulatory authorities, test ranges, standards organizations, flight schools, insurers, risk managers, legal experts.

Robotex 2016
Tallinn, Estonia

Hide details

Robotex is the greatest robotics competition in Europe. In this three-day family event different international robot competitions in both well-known and new fields take place. 23 different competitions are organized with the aim of providing the opportunity to participate and to develop skills for everybody – from elementary school students to highly qualified robot builders. Those who are interested but don't have previous experience with robotics or haven't had a chance to build robot are welcome to take part in various workshops. These are organised by experts in the field under whose supervision different programming as well as mechanics-based tasks can be solved. Moreover, there are lot to discover in interactive Technology exhibition where this year approximately 40 different exponents with 150 exhibits are expected to take part. In 2016 the best works from creative contests are also exhibited at Robotex, which is free to enjoy for all visitors. More than 2,000 robot builders and approximately 16,000 spectators are expected to take part in the project. Furthermore, an innovation conference will take place from 1st to 3rd of December with international speakers from NASA, ESA and other public and private organisations.

Register your robot here: <http://voistlus.robotex.ee/2016/register>

Target audience

- Kindergarten children and elementary school students – one of the main target groups whose involvement in studying science and engineering specialties has to start at an early age.
- Pupils and university students – are involved in the project with the purpose of promoting and introducing scientific and engineering achievements and provide all young people with real outputs to implement their knowledge.
- Companies – Robotex is a place for companies who want to achieve higher visibility and introduce themselves to a wider audience. Companies and students are certainly brought together, which possibly results in new jobs and traineeship.
- Research institutions – cooperation is made with various specialty societies and institutions to ensure sustainable scientific and student community through promoting scientific achievements and projects.
- Engineering enthusiasts – all people who are interested in the field of engineering, despite their age, are welcomed to participate in Robotex to be more heard and introduce the engineering world to everyone who is interested in this topic.

GERMANY

The German events during ERW2016 were wide in variety and could include many different people. The Computer Science Department of Humboldt University in Berlin opened its doors so that the public was able to see their robots preparing for the new season of RoboCup. As popular as football is in Germany, this has of course been a great success! At Schunk, everybody who is interested in robot automation was invited to join for a robot competition where they had to program their own robot and were able to win an award for best performance. By now a dear tradition is the ERW2016 for the German robot manufacturer who has been involved with several events each year from the beginning in 2011 on: Children of every age were invited to hands-on interactive lectures, where they could operate the youBot; adults were given a presentation by the Head of Engineering Advanced Technology Solutions and KUKA employees visited local schools and kindergardens to talk about robotics.

Even the local newspaper Augsburgener Allgemeine got involved and hosted a robot drawing competition for over 100 children.

Up in the north of Germany, the Hamburg University of Technology held the third Robotic Hamburg Open Workshop (RoHOW), which is an educational and networking event of students of the Universität Hamburg and the TUHH with students and scientists from all over the world that are active in research on humanoid robots.

Frankfurt University organised an event on the topic of robotics and assistive technologies for healthy aging – fitting very well to the topic of the ERWs central event in Amsterdam. And lastly another open lab afternoon was organised by the Chair for Cognitive Systems at the Technical University of Munich.

Robotics Fair
Be'er Sheva, Israel

Hide details

A full day robotics fair will take place at the Carasso Science Park in Beer-Sheva. The fair will include robotic demonstrations including a 3D robotic simulator and a robotic xylophone player, robotic Lego games, robotic competitions including a robotic sumo event, and lectures by leading robotic scientists. The lectures will present agricultural robotics, biomimetics robotics, and brain-machine interfaces. The fair is organized in collaboration with the ABC robotics initiative, Ben-Gurion University of the Negev, the Ministry of Education, Robotech technologies, Young Engineers, FIRSt Lego League (FLL), FIRST robotics Competitions (FRC), Beer-Sheva technology center.

Target audience

School students during the morning
General public during the afternoon

ITALY

The European Robotics Week in Italy saw the participation of thousands of girls and boys, teachers and programming enthusiasts and robots.

Over 150 events took place in schools and universities, museums, robotics and ICT companies, foundations, Fablab etc. Among the highlights: the Museo del Violino di Cremona organised an exhibition about one of the early Renaissance engineers, Janello Torriani, guided by robots.

To address the distances between North and South of Italy, Scuola di Robotica, which coordinates the European Robotics Week nationally, organised dozens of webinars, skype sessions, with schools in Calabria, Campania, Sicily.

The girls and boys of the Italian teams of the FIRST® LEGO® League and the NAO Challenge teams organized demos and workshops from Campania to Sicily, from Genoa to Florence.

The Prisma Lab of the University of Naples and the DIAG of the University of Rome La Sapienza or the Robotics and Artificial Intelligence Laboratory at the University of Padua opened their doors for Lab Tours.

Robotics Demo Day

Chisinau, Moldova, Republic Of

Hide details

Robotics Demo Day in Chisinau Moldova will demonstrate how Robots functions using Lego MindStorm EV3. The program is co-organised by TEKEDU, USAID, Roboclub and Artico.

The workshop agenda:

1. First Workshop

Topic: The essential principles of robotics. LEGO MINDSTORMS EV3 components.

(allocated time: 1h 30 minutes)

- Introducing in LEGO MINDSTORMS EV3 parts and components.
- Basics of programming
- Work Practice – City Mission (Will try to program a robot to move in a city)

break : 30 minutes

2. Second workshop:

Topic: The impact of robotics in daily life

(allocated time: 1h 30 minutes)

- Building a robot called Floor Washer
- Giving it artificial intelligence (through programming)
- Receiving other examples or ideas about how can we ease our life using technologies

break : 30 minutes

3. Third workshop:

Topic: The impact of robotics in rescue operations

- Introducing. Which areas of human activity are very harmful and how can we use robots to keep people in safety
- Programming the mission "Rescue Bot" step by step with comments. (allocated time: 2 hours)

NETHERLANDS

18.11.2016 - 22.11.2016 | 08:00 - 18:00

European Robotics Week Central Event
Amsterdam, Netherlands

Hide details

This year the European Robotics Week's central event focuses on several topics such as:

- assistive living technologies and healthy aging
- girls and women in technology
- encouragement of STEAM-based education
- robotics competitions and challenges

This is a multi-track event aiming to inspire people on the positive contribution robotics can bring to our society and geared to inspire to the younger generations on the growing importance of skills in science, technology, engineering, arts and math (STEAM).

A Multi-Track Event

Talk & Debate

Experts panel sessions will discuss the use of robotics for topics such as: robotics regulation, competitions, assistive living technologies, girls and women in technology, and the encouragement of STEAM-based education.

"Meet the Robots" - Exhibition

The European Robotics Week 2016 will bring together the most advanced European robotics industry, research institutes and projects. You will be able to meet and experience the latest and greatest robots in the three different exhibition areas: health, competitions, robotics education, with focus on girls.

Experience & Explore

Workshops for young and old; here is where kids and parents learn how to build a robot with 3D printers, assemble their first robot or create their first line of code. We are proud to host this track at the NEMO Science Museum in Amsterdam.

The Hack for Healthy Ageing

Enter the Hack for Healthy Ageing; 48-hour hackathon for designers, makers, coders, developers, data scientists, engineers, researchers, students, startups, caretakers, architects, entrepreneurs, or anyone else who believes their skill is valuable in tackling the healthy aging societal challenge.

Live Broadcasts

Would you like to know what's going on across Europe? Watch live broadcasts showcasing the various robotics activities from across Europe and of course from the central event in Amsterdam!

Workshop on "Successful Career Planning" in the field of
"ROBOTICS Based on Arduino"

Need for the program

The positive utilization of our youth's talent requires proper guidance and development. Youth development initiatives are inevitable for achievement of prosperity of our country. Based on this notion an initiative has been taken by E&DC to carry out a series of workshops on "Successful Career Planning", with a focus on providing youth, a guideline for career assessment and development of required skills set for achieving career goals successfully. In these workshops experts from the industries will be invited to share their knowledge and experience with the students.

Objectives of the program

This course is specifically designed for students, fresh graduates and young professionals. This course will equip the participants with the appropriate skills set required for opting for a right career and attaining a desired job.

This program will assist the aspirants in grooming of their personalities and entering into an appropriate career through developing their skills in various areas like self-awareness, decision-making, goal-setting and establishing a plan of action. The program objectives are as follows:

- Enhanced self-awareness
- Effective career decisions and career goals
- Self-improvement

Project Beneficiaries

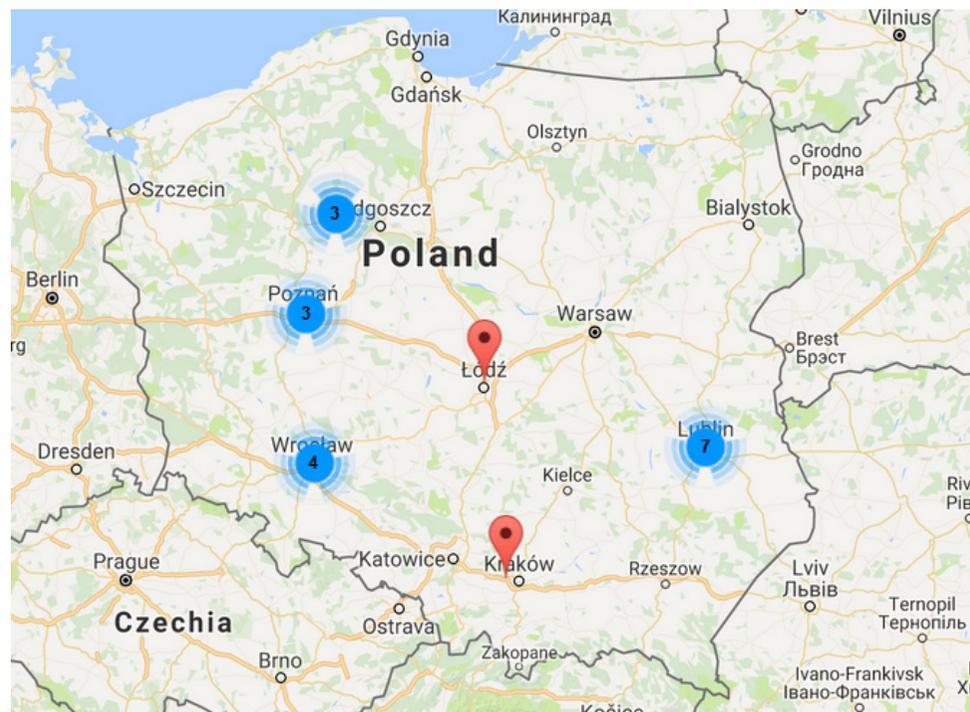

- The students, fresh graduates and young professionals
- Organizations will get well developed human resources and right person at right place. (A data bank can also be maintained)
- Society will achieve its socio-economic objectives

Who can attend?

Students of O & A'Level, Inter Science, Fresh Graduate and professionals seeking a career in the field of Robotics in Pakistan and abroad specially in China
Career Planning by Sir Imran Ahmed

- Identifying your skills, knowledge, and qualifications
- Completing a career profile
- Researching possible roles
- Exploring different industries
- Researching salary ranges
- Performing a gap analysis
- Leveraging an internship
- Identifying your ideal employer
- Competing with others

ROMANIA

16 events were organised in the South of Romania, half of them under the umbrella of Pauza de tehnologie/The Technology Break. The goal of this initiative was to promote new technologies, in particular robotics, among pupils from small towns and villages in Romania, in order to connect them with the latest innovation products and to stimulate them to think creatively and dream big. The other half of the events was organised by LEGO® MINDSTORMS® Robotics, in the form of workshops for children aged 10 to 15.

SPAIN

Spain was once more the undisputed leader in regard to the number of organised events during the ERW2016. Almost 500 events took place all over the country sweeping kids, students and adults alike away to the world of robotics. The main activity in Spain was "Jornada Robotica", organised in Madrid, on 22 November, by the Association Hisparob. The programme included several round tables, an exhibition and some workshops for kids. The event benefitted from online streaming. The Madrid region organised 95 events in total during the ERW2017.

The Catalonia region organised 157 events, amongst which open days by companies such as PAL robotics, Institut de Robòtica i Informàtica Industrial, CSIC-UPC and robotics classes in a large majority of schools across the region.

These were only three examples of the many possibilities Spanish people were offered during ERW2016 to come in contact with robots. In the following pages you will find the complete list of events that took place during the Spanish European Robotics Week 2016.

Le robot éducatif Thymio II pour les enseignant-e-s du cycle 3
Lausanne, Switzerland

Hide details

Les robots peuvent être un moyen pédagogique tout comme la tablette, l'ordinateur, le papier ou les ciseaux. Les robots permettent déjà dans de nombreuses classes de diversifier les procédés pédagogiques et créer des nouvelles dynamiques. L'introduction de ce nouveau média dans les classes du cycle 3 demande toutefois de bien le connaître. Cette formation vise justement à donner aux participant-e-s la maîtrise du robot éducatif Thymio, très présent dans les écoles du canton. Le but de la formation est donc de comprendre comment fonctionne ce système, ainsi que les outils qui permettent de le programmer.

I robot tra noi!

La Settimana Robotica Europea 2016 in Italia

(18 - 27 novembre 2016)

La Settimana Robotica Europea che si sta svolgendo in Italia vede la partecipazione di migliaia di ragazze e ragazzi, insegnanti e appassionati di programmazione e robot.

Gli eventi che si stanno svolgendo sono molti, nelle scuole e università, musei, società di robotica e di ICT, fondazioni, Fablab e così via.

Tra gli eventi più straordinari: presso il Museo del Violino di Cremona, nell'ambito della mostra su uno dei primi ingegneri del Rinascimento, Janello Torriani, chi trovate a farvi da guida? Un robot. E un altro robot vi attende in un'altra sala.

Per ovviare alle distanze tra Nord e Sud dell'Italia, Scuola di Robotica, che coordina a livello nazionale la Settimana Robotica Europea, sta organizzando decine di webinar, di skype session, con scuole in Calabria, Campania, Sicilia.

Le ragazze e i ragazzi dei team italiani della FIRST® LEGO® League, la gara con robottini che si svolge in tutto il mondo hanno organizzato demo e laboratori dalla Campania alla Sicilia, da Genova a Firenze. Così hanno fatto i team della NAO Challenge.

Ci sono Lab Tour, come presso il Prisma Lab dell'Università di Napoli, presso il DIAG dell'Università di Roma La Sapienza o il laboratorio di robotica e intelligenza artificiale dell'Università di Padova.

Ci sono corsi e laboratori presso le scuole in Ospedale, con robottini programmati dai piccoli pazienti, e corsi per l'inclusione.

Fino ad oggi, in Italia si stanno svolgendo quasi 150 eventi, e la Settimana Robotica Europea è appena iniziata!

POLAND

- Radio Centrum

Local Academic Radio prepared an hour broadcast where Wojciech Brzozowski and Małgorzata Szyszko were informing about presented robots and reasons why these events are taking place all around Europe. It was emitted twice, on Friday 18th of November, at 12.am and on Sunday, 20th of November at 10.am. Short information about that was presented at the Radio website

<http://centrum.fm/wystawa-robotow-w-lublinie/>

- Medical Cluster in Lublin

Sent invitations to all Cluster members using their mailing list, moreover, the invitation was also posted at their website

<http://medycyna.lublin.eu/2016/11/17/europejski-tydzien-robotyki/>

- ACCREA

Prepared a facebook event and below are presented the statistics:

During the event, the local department of the national Polish television showed a contribution about robots ReMeDi (EU FP7 project), RAMCIP (EU Horizon 2020 project) and some others robots built by ACCREA.

<https://www.facebook.com/lublin.tvp/videos/1185326384887043/>

- Polsat News, a Polish nationwide TV channel was conducting live broadcast from the event several times during the first day of the event, on Thursday, 24th of November.

- Kurier Lubelski

Published an article about the event and photo gallery.

Robotic Show 2016 v Košiciach a Inteligentné systémy - IEEE Student Branch aktivita

The “Robotic Show” for students from secondary schools in Kosice. It was a “shocking” surprise. There came twice as many students as we planned: altogether 586 between 9.00 and 14.00h. Luckily, the exhibition was placed in 3 rooms with 24 organizers, so we managed it quite successfully. Robots from 4 Labs were presented.
